"I hired Dr. Wolff to do a very important patent search for a client. His search was one of three searches I was commissioned to do. Tom's results were easily the best of the three search products I received. Being a patent searcher of some experience myself, I can appreciate someone who not only understands computerized search systems but also can deliver a set of focused results in a professional and timely manner. When I have another project requiring the services of an independent patent searcher, Tom will be the first one I will call." March 16, 2009

Marc Adler

hired Thomas as a patent search and analysis in 2009

"We hired Thomas to do some very specific patent and literature searching around chemical structures of interest. Thomas was a pleasure to work with and the report and results we received were well thought out, organized and succinct. He recommended several opportunities for cost savings (both in database costs and his hourly rate) where the search could be limited and where it needed to be expanded. He also recommended that we pay independently for the search engine and recommended the type of account that would most cost-efficient for our needs. We were very pleased with the end results on both instances where we utilized his services and will use him again for future literature and patent searches." March 12, 2009
